Education Is More

Than Books Alone

Taking part in extra-curricular activities supplements the regular school schedule and enriches every student's intellectual growth.

Chenango Valley's clubs promote fellowship and advance the development of character. They allow students to express themselves and improve their knowledge.

Student Council is the center of student life at Chenoango Valley, and around it all clubs and activities revolve. Among the projects undertaken by the Council this year were: sponsorship of the annual First Fall Fling, participation in T.V. Party Night, and the joining of the New York State Association of Student Councils. Advised by Mr. Johnson, Student Council officers this year were: Ron Goodspeed, President; Art Hierl, Vice-President; Pat Jones, Secretary; Debbie Banford, Treasurer; Andrea Truchan, Assistant Secretary; Sandy Drake, Assistant Treasurer; Anne Wilson, Girl Delegate-at-Large; Dick Krivanek, Boy Delegate-at-Large.

Service-Honor Byword

Senior Honor Society members personify scholarship, service, leadership, and character. After attaining the required scholastic average, they must satisfy the remaining three requirements. These qualities are used to serve the school in any possible way. Working under their advisor, Mrs. Copeland, members tutor students, correct papers, and aid other organizations.

Junior Honor Society places similar qualifications for membership. With their advisor, Miss Quinn, members learn the value of individual contributions toward the completion of a successful group effort. Junior Honor Society raises money for a cash award to an outstanding senior for furthering education, and to finance its annual dinner dance. Both organizations are members of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools.

Serious-Service Groups

Service to school and community is the primary function of Key Club. Their activities included the King Football Dance with the Cheerleaders, the sale of tickets at the wrestling matches, and the making of benches for the tennis court.

Through the efforts of the Student Patrol, Chenango Valley's halls have been less congested and travel through them has been easier.

Mrs. Volkwein, Debate Club advisor, has appeared on STETA Debates, held a debate assembly for the student body, and traveled to various schools for debates.

Objective-Service

High School Red Cross has been very busy, carrying out such projects as fund drives, a health clinic service, hospital visits, and entertaining patients. Through their efforts, needy families were helped during the Christmas holidays. Red Cross is the symbol of service to the school and community. The officers were: President, Pat Mann; Vice-President, Denise O'Neil; Secretary, Linda Eastman; Treasurer, Kathy Smith; Public Relations, Arlene Erb.

Health Careers Club includes members of every grade level. Anyone that has any interest in a career connected with the health field is invited to join. The occupations offered are many and varied.

For the Future Experience Counts

Typing tests and working the mimeograph machine for teachers are two of the services performed by the Business Club. Also, on the club's schedule were guest speakers, field trips, and a Christmas party. Officers this year were: Pat Parrotte, president; Jeanne Sheffer, vice-president; Jan Constable, secretary; and Carol Robinson, treasurer.

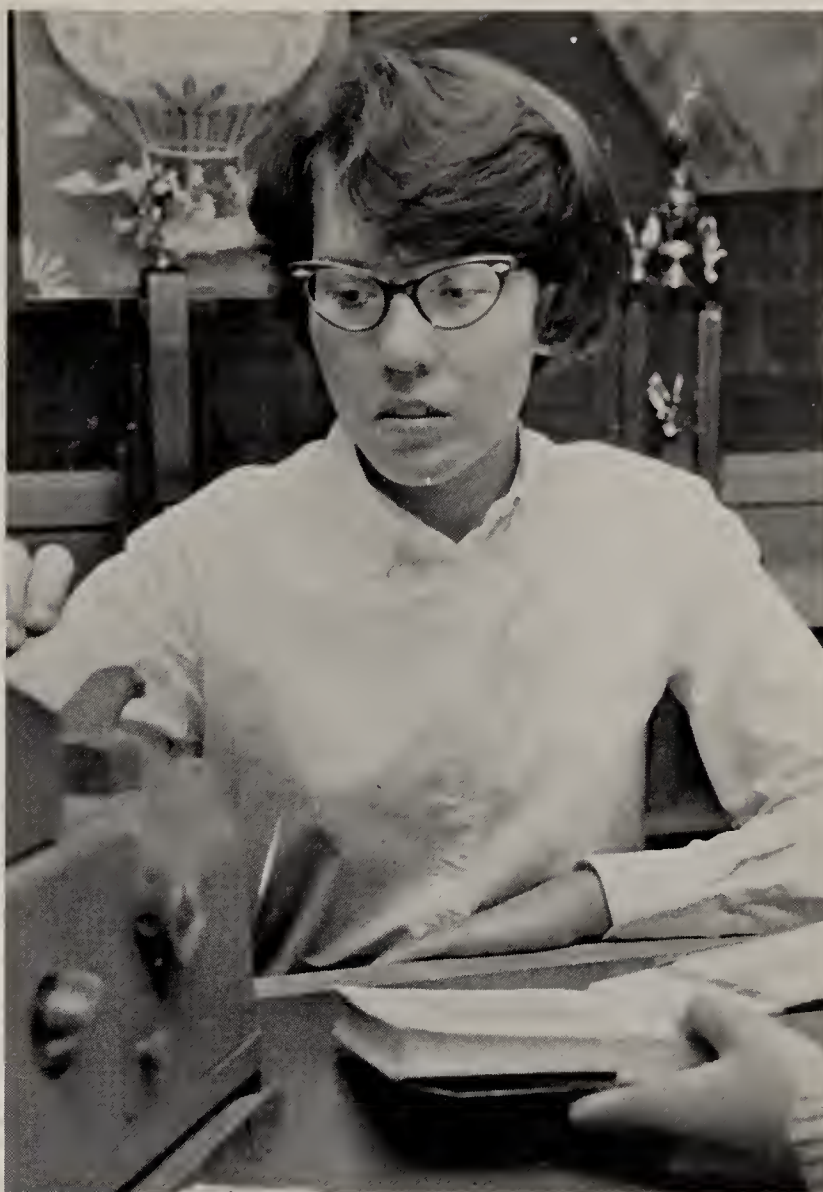

Barb Bradley, Carol Edwards, and Pat Parrotte prepare tests for busy teachers.

Busy, Dependable Library Helpers

Checking out books, signing corridor permits, and putting away returned books are only a few of the duties of a group of our students. These students are known as the library assistants. They perform these services during their study halls. The school librarians have been aided greatly by the help of the library assistants in both the junior and senior high libraries.

Indoor-Outdoor Interest Groups

Saturday trips to Greek Peak and movies after school highlight the season for Ski Club. Miss Aswad, Miss Lovette, and Mr. Newton sponsored this very active club. An innovation this year was the skiing lessons at Greek Peak through the school.

New and exciting, Math Club has taken shape under the capable hands of Mr. Viennese. The Junior High takes pride in the Math Club and its efforts to explore the world of mathematics in a new and interesting manner.

Seeing programs at football games and coat checking were two of the activities of Junior Leaders' Club. Members are chosen for their athletic ability and co-operation.

Languages Come Alive

Foreign languages are studied and learned in classes, but only in after-school clubs and affairs do the languages become real to the students.

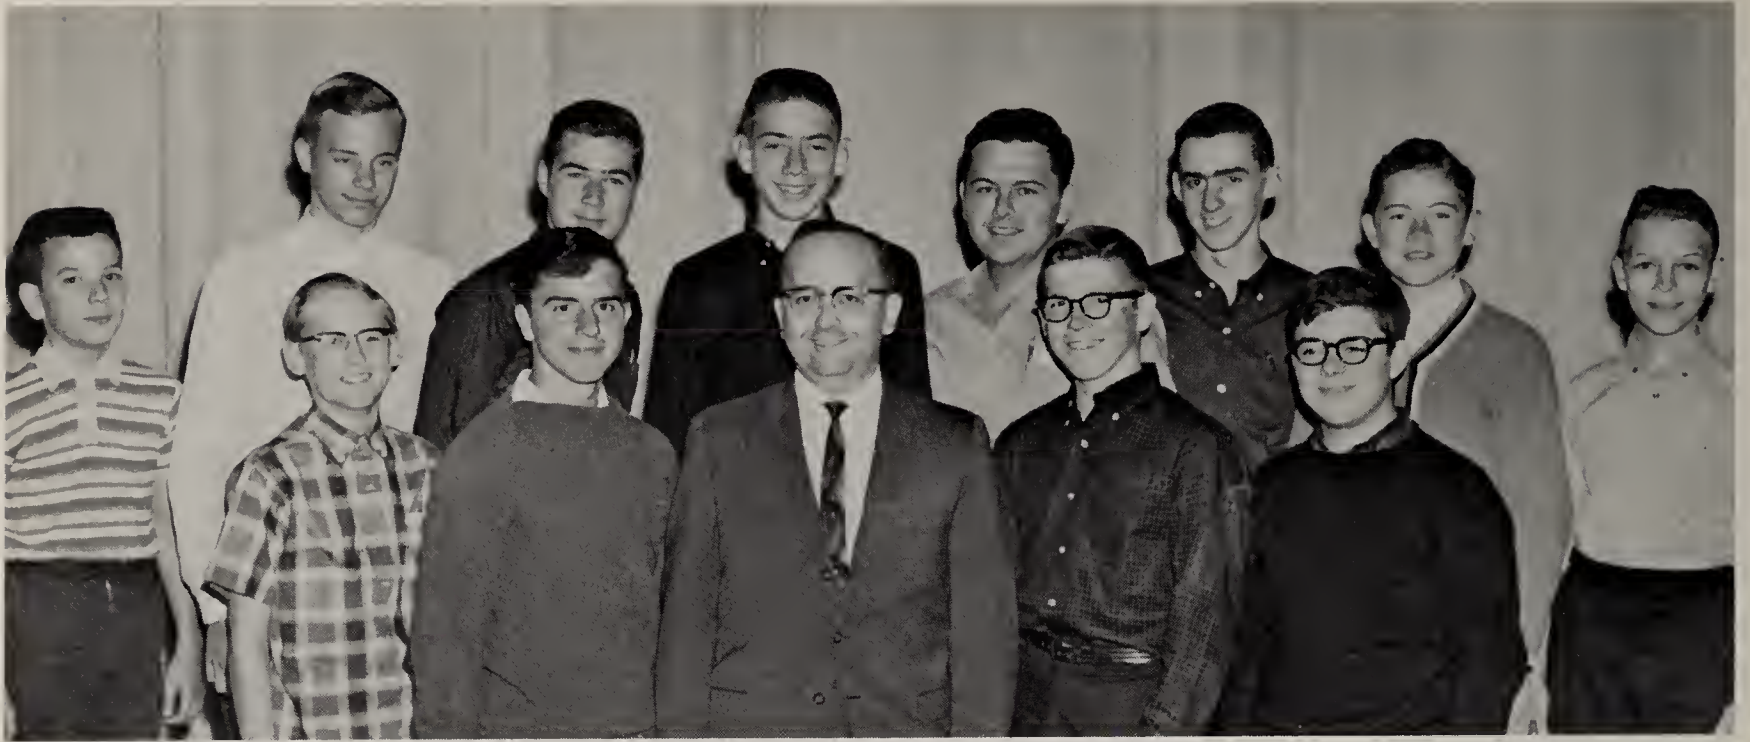

Latin is used and abused at the annual Latin banquet. Students plan the entertainment and make their own costumes. Latin teachers, Mr. Reno, Mrs. Holwood, and Miss McGinnis, help plan the event and attend Romanly attired.

Spanish Club, through a dinner and numerous speakers, has broadened its members' knowledge of Spanish. Mrs. Riter advises this active student group.

Christmas carols and the making of wine highlighted the year for French Club. With Miss Lovette and Miss Benn, members met every three weeks at each other's homes. Other activities were a picnic and a dance.

LATIN BANQUET PARTICIPANTS: Mike Scott, Mrs. Holnwood, Mr. Reno, Miss McGinnis, John Sutula and Diane Rennell.

Leisure Time Interests

Tech crew is a fundamental service organization which provides equipment and technical knowledge to school activities for their productions. They arrange lighting and sound equipment for assemblies, plays, and dances.

Advised by Mrs. Lawrence, Merit Badge Club enables Boy Scouts to advance their rank through the earning of merit badges in citizenship.

Newly formed Stamp and Coin Club, under Mr. Wilson, furthers the hobby of many students and allows them to meet with others with the same interest.

Organized a few years ago, Radio Club, sponsored by Mr. Janowski, is for interested radio hams. Students are given the opportunity to expand their knowledge and interest in radios.

Controversial Issues

Chenango Valley's student newspaper, the QUILL, has shown tremendous improvement from previous years. This year it has come out monthly with fresh, topical, often controversial news and varied articles.

Editor-in-chief Sue Chape and Features Editor Nancy Meidenbauer have worked long hours with the staff, advised by Mrs. Crandall. Congratulations go to Sue for winning a Syracuse University School of Journalism Award for excellence in scholastic journalism at the High School Press Institute last summer.

All New WARRIOR for '64

To most students the yearbook is a pictorial record of the school year. To the WARRIOR Staff, working on the yearbook is a source of experience, knowledge, and, best of all, fun. They forget the frantic Saturday meetings and worry over deadlines when they see the pleased look on the faces of their fellow students on Class Day.

This year's staff owes a great deal of thanks to Editor-in-chief Judy Branick, and Mr. Van Keuren, our advisor. Both of them put in long hours working to perfect our yearbook.

Hard work and long hours were also put in by the other editors and their assistants. What once seemed an almost impossible task is now completed in this annual.

Great thanks and praise go to the WARRIOR salesmen. They did a terrific job selling over 1100 books. Great thanks also to our terrific student photographer, Bob Pollak. His candid shots are truly the foundation of this book.

Chorus Excels in Christmas — Elementary Programs

Junior High Chorus, directed by Mrs. Aiello, meets two times a week to prepare for their many performances and concerts. This year they presented a Christmas pageant with the Senior chorus and a spring concert. In March, a program was presented at the elementary schools. They also sent 13 students to the Broome County Festival—2 sopranos, 2 altos, 6 tenors, and 3 basses to try out for positions. This junior high program allows junior high students to participate in musical activities.

Mrs. Parson teaches her junior high class the fundamentals of music.

Interested junior high students participate in music class.

Mr. Fleming directs the Senior Band.

Leading the parade: Stu Fynboe, drum major.

Meeting three times a week, the Junior Band prepared for their three concerts at the Chenango Bridge, Port Dickinson and Nimmonsburgh elementary schools. They also participate in sectional competition. This excellent junior high group is directed by Mr. Fako. The president for the 1963-1964 band is Gary LeRoy. An annual concert was presented in the spring and enabled talented junior high students to display their musical ability.

Junior High Orchestra is directed by Mr. Fleming and gives students still another chance to excel musically. Students try out to attain positions in this talented group.

Music Education Not Confined to Classes

Once again this year, the Senior band has represented our school on many occasions. In the fall, football season provided the band with many opportunities to show their marching skill. Under the direction of Mr. Fako, they staged half-time performances at most of the home and away games. They also participated in the Columbus Day Parade. Winter and spring brought the concert season for the band under the direction of Mr. Fleming. New this year was a county festival sponsored by the band on March 6th and 7th. Later in the spring, they marched in the Memorial Day Parade and the Hillcrest Booster Day Parade. The music department has also formed a Dance band.

Say It With Music

Chenango Valley has sponsored many musical endeavors this year. The Senior Chorus, led by Mrs. Parsons, carried out a full program including a Christmas production with the Junior Chorus and a spring concert. Officers of Chorus were: Sally Potter, President; Vivan Martindale, Vice-President; Carol Hartigan, Secretary; and Sue Smith, Treasurer.

Kathy Conroy and Dave Starr attended the All-State Chorus in Rochester, December 4-7, 1963. This was a great honor for them and the school.

Also active musically were the Val-Airs, a group of eleven girls and eight boys, who presented several musical programs throughout the Triple Cities.

School spirit has been greatly boosted this year with the formation of the Pep Club. President Sue Aiken and sponsors Mr. Estadt and Miss Aswad have led this eager group of students at both home and away basketball and football games.

One of the sports-social activities held this year was the King Football Dance sponsored by the Key Club and the cheerleaders. Don Link was crowned King Football by cheerleading captain Linda Krivanek. Other candidates were Tom Trudell, Roy Anderson, Mel Fahs, Dave Lewis, Paul Connelly, and Art Hierl, Senior members of the Varsity football squad.

Coach, Player Honored

Chenango Valley was honored this year by the naming of Mike Durbin as Triple Cities Coach of the Year. Coach Durbin worked hard all season with his assistants and team. His efforts paid off at North Game, our first STC attempt.

The leadership of Don Link was climaxed by being acclaimed fullback of the year in the T. C. Link's best game was at Oswego where he made half of total yards gained by both teams. He scored 13 of our 20 points. Link incited team morale by stirring pre-game talks.

Coaches Kolodej, Estadt, and O'Hare, with Gerry Barvinchak express feeling during tense moment.

Don Link crashes line for first down.

Mel Fahs sweeps end for 30-yard gain against ME.

CV Wins

C.V.'s opener ended in a hard-fought 0-0 tie. Led by fullback Don Link, the team pushed for an 83-yard drive only to fall 3 yards short. Fine defensive action thwarted Norwich's attempts to score.

Don Link and Mel Fahs gave a double punch performance which netted 20 points against Waverly. Speedy Fahs capped off an 8-yard drive with a 16-yard run. Don Link penetrated the line for a 6-yard run that put C.V. ahead. Victory was finally achieved with a 75-yard punt return by Fahs.

STC Debut

C.V.'s line withstood the repeated pounding of a tough Owego team. Tackle Mark Withers was a contributing factor, as was end Paul Connelly and center Gary Worden at the S.V. romp.

Homer and M.E. were other victories C.V. had for its undefeated season. The fine team effort was the winning factor. C.V. stopped North 12-0 on its first STC game, proving our abilities.

Balance Helped

CV's harriers had to overcome many obstacles this year to finish as well as they did last year. First of all, the team lost John "Sticks" Reid for the year. John had been second man after the Fulton Invitational. Then, Ray Smith hurt his foot in the team's fourth meet and never really recovered.

Despite these obstacles, the team went out and did a very commendable job. The harriers won three meets in 1963. They also came in second twice, third twice, and fourth once.

Coach McDaniels displays disappointment over team scores.

Harrier Effort

Ray Smith and John Reid led the team to victory in the Fulton Invitational. The Sid Stock Invitational was won with aid of Ray Smith and Greg Leroy. Dave Brinsko and Mike Satterthwaite gave winning performances in the Triple Cities Meet. The remarkable thing about this year's team was that no one runner dominated the first finishing position.

Congratulations again go to Coach McDaniel on completion of a fine season.

Action Highlights Hoop Season

CV Warriors had an enthusiastic following, who closely watched the season opener at North.

John Reid begins a scoring drive.

Coach Sharpsteen set the mode of the season when he said, "They can't score when we have the ball." This statement became action as the Warriors employed deliberate plays and impregnable freezes against the opposition. Variation of plays such as continuity and step-play developed considerable interest in local papers.

The individual talent of the players added greatly to the total team effort. Tom Macko proved to be a great asset with his tremendous job at center and on the boards. John Reid was acclaimed as one of the Southern Tier's best ball handlers, thrilling the crowds with his dribbling and hook-shots.

Marv Berg was elected to the Evening Press team because he was the most consistent player for CV. His 17.5 point game average does not tell the full story. Again and again as the game drew to a close, he added the needed play-making and scoring ability to win a victory.

The bench was called on to add the needed strength and balance needed. Shafer, Worden, Duncan, Withers, and Wiegele supplemented the necessary team effort.

Chris Shafer and Marv Berg did a commendable job on the mound with Ron Goodspeed behind home plate.

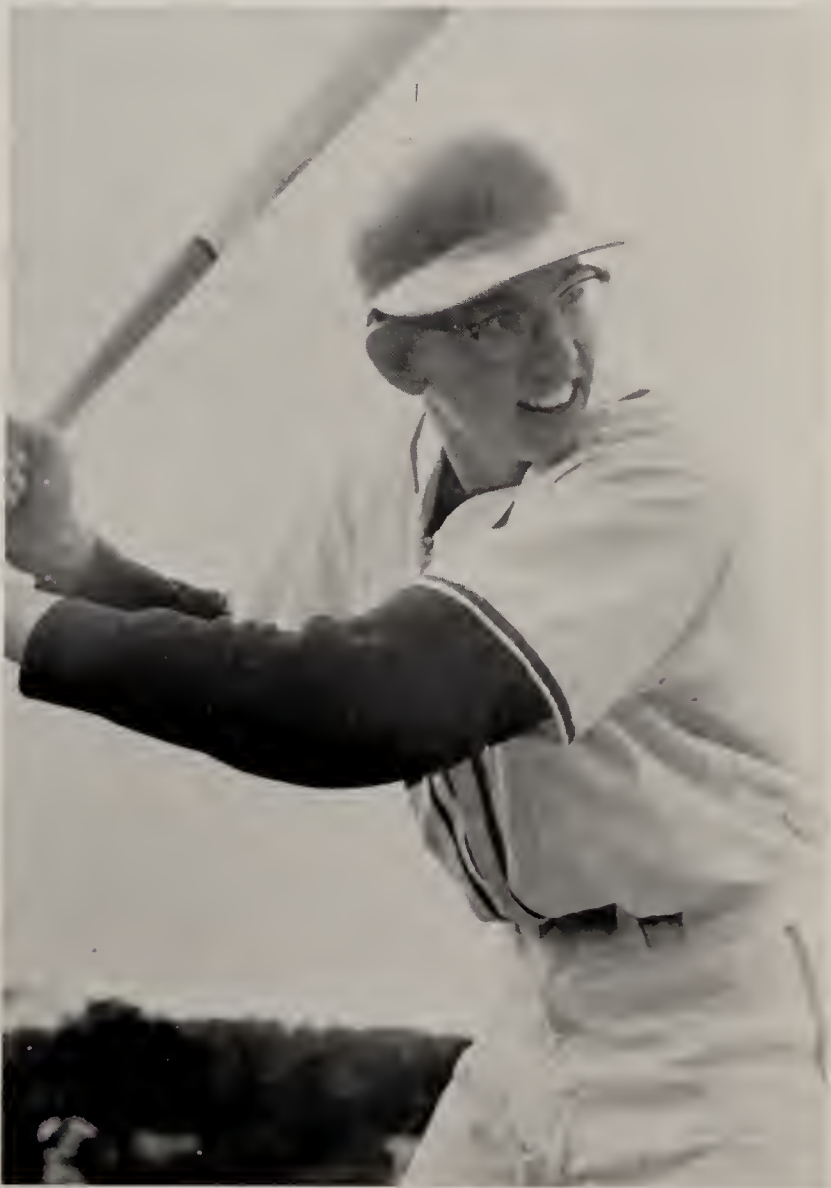

Although the old field left its mark on many of our opponents, Coach DeCastro hopes to use the new field during the '64 season.

Pitchers Bill Leonard and Stan Rosenkrans piloted the team to a 6 win, 8 loss record. Bob Knowles and Gary Worden held down the catching job with marked ability. Darkness accounted for the one tie which found itself on the scoreboard. Because a constant turnover of players exists, the 1963 season was not without pride. Coach Weckel continued to teach the team the fundamentals of baseball while impressing upon them the need for drive, determination and desire.

Tennis Team Pulls Winning Season

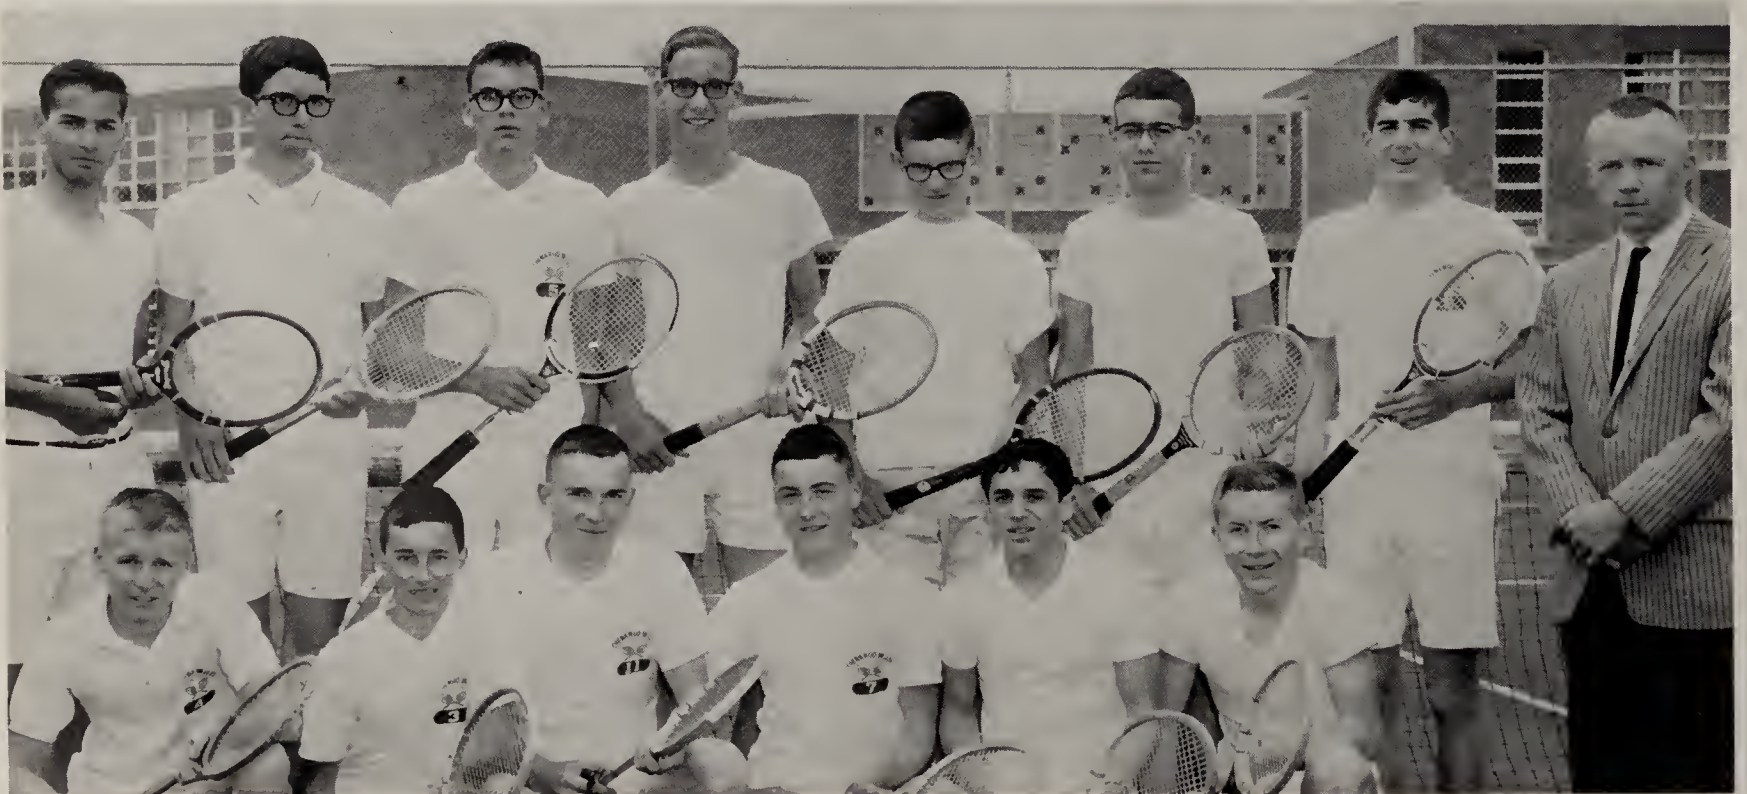

CV's tennis team had a respectable 5 wins and 3 losses for the 1963 season. Coach Harvey received outstanding performance from Jim Brown, Dean Rink, Bill Tozer and Ron Snow. As a team, they defeated U-E and North twice. The netmen lost to M-E 5-4, but then triumphed over M-E 4-3 the second time around. CV fought hard against a tough Binghamton Central team but made a poor showing both times with scores of 7-0 and 6-1. Tennis was cut from the athletic program for the '63-'64 school year.

Faculty — Student

Rapport Tops at CV

One of the most important relationships in life is that between a student and his teachers. The warmth of such relations continues far after the student has graduated.

Chenango Valley's faculty works closely with its students both in classes and after school activities. Their wisdom and supervision guide us in our search for knowledge.

Diversification Marks CV English Department

Chenango Valley's English department strives to promote comprehension and understanding of the language, but English is more than a required subject to CV students. WARRIOR, QUILL, Dramatics Club, Debate Club, and the oratorical contests are offsprings of the English department.

Students who successfully complete Math 12 may take either 12-X or Advanced Placement, depending on their mathematical ability. Mr. Tosh, teaching 12-X, instructs his students in basic college mathematics. The Advanced Placement, taught by Mrs. Hardy, enables students to forego their college freshman mathematics by passing

Sciences Keep

The science department is continually striving to keep abreast of new teaching methods and materials. This past year found Mr. Croman, Mr. Lyon, and Mrs. Ross updating their respective courses by attending summer school. During the year, Mr. McGarry, Mr. Lyon, Mr. Weiss, and Mrs. Ross took Radiation Biology at Oneonta State College.

CV Excels in the Creative Arts

Strains of popular music mixed with the sound of cheery voices help produce the creative atmosphere in the art department. Individual achievement and originality are stressed in the many and varied projects. Each student strives for the goal of exhibiting in the Scholastic Art Awards show each year. Encouragement is not on a competitive basis, but in the honor involved with exhibiting.

CV's music department, ably headed by Mr. Fleming, excels in providing training and encouragement to fledgling musicians. The department has had many successes, evidenced by superior achievement, both individual and group, in contests throughout the state.

Librarians and Counselors Provide Vital Services

Always prepared to help, anxious to aid us further in our desire for learning, our librarians have made the libraries veritable storehouses of knowledge. Besides the usual functions of a library, ours have been centers of school spirit and pep. This has been especially due to the bulletin board in the Senior High library with all the recent CV clippings.

It is the task of the Guidance Department to arrange the schedules desired by the students. In addition to this overwhelming job, much of our guidance counselors' time is spent helping students plan their careers and assisting Seniors in choosing colleges and making their applications.

Bob Roberts and Dennis Button discuss college plans with Mr. Johnson in the Guidance Office.

Practical Vocational Education at CV

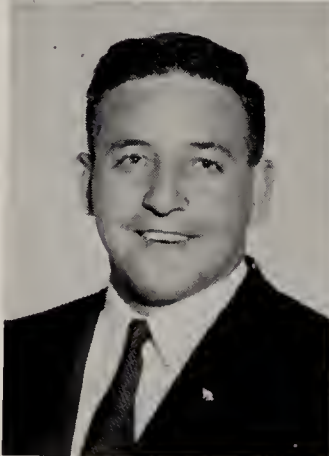

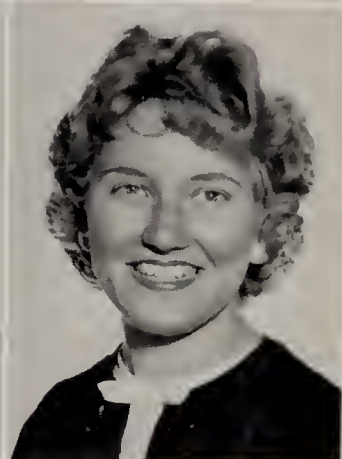

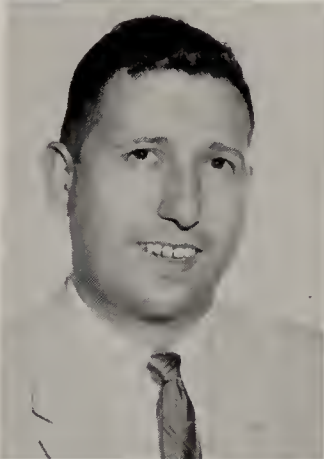

Home Economics has attempted to instruct its students in cooking, sewing, child care, and interior decoration. This program, supplemented by the Future Homemakers of America, has been growing and improving in methods and scope.

Throughout the year, the Industrial Arts department, headed by Mr. DeCastro, has continued its fine job of practical vocational education. At the same time, there is student designing and construction of many useful projects.

More Comprehensive Business Courses Planned

This year's commercial department has been enlivened by the presence of its first student teacher, Miss Ellis, from Marywood College. Also new to the department are the chairs in the junior high typing room. Expansion with a more comprehensive range of business courses is planned for next year.

Row 1: Mr. James Wheeler, Chairman, Hartwick College; Mrs. Marion Cook, Albany State. Row 2: Mr. Leo Estadt, Penn State; Mrs. Marcia James, Skidmore College. Row 3: Mr. Frank Kaminsky, Bloomsburg State; Mrs. Virginia Zellner, New York University.

Sandi Cunningham, Judy Simonds, Dawn Young, and Carol Dotman practice typing while Mr. Estadt and Mr. Wheeler supervise.

Row 1: Mrs. Ruth Riter, Albany State, Chairman; Miss Audrey Benn, Syracuse University. Row 2: Miss Mary Lou Lovette, Cortland State; Mr. Michael Opolicky, Syracuse University. Row 3: Mr. Harold Rockwell, Syracuse University; Mrs. Ladis Seaman, University of Puerto Rico. Row 4: Mrs. Virginia Woodin, Albany State.

Miss Lovette discusses a French play with Sandy Warfield.

Goal: Language Comprehension

Comprehension is the major goal of the three languages in our modern foreign language department. Headed by Mrs. Riter, this department has expanded and improved teaching methods. Conversational programs at junior high level have been growing. Language laboratories are being used extensively. Backgrounds of the various languages have been stressed and are felt to be an important part of the modern foreign language program.

Though aural comprehension is not necessary with Latin, our Latin teachers, Mrs. Holmwood, Mr. Reno, and Miss McGinnis have strived to promote written comprehension of the language.

Row 1: Physical Education: Miss Esther Aswad, Cortland State; Mr. Carl Newton, Cortland State; Mrs. Sandra Sestak, Cortland State; Mr. Peter Smyk, Ithaca College. Row 2: Driver Education: Mr. Michael Durbin, Concord College; Mr. Robert McDaniel, Oswego State. Nurse-teachers: Miss Sara Squier, Columbia University; Mrs. Barbara Whitaker, Cortland State. Health: Mr. Stanley Wilson, Brockport State.

Physical Education, Nurses, Driver Ed, and Health

Advice, help, and counsel, along with the usual teaching are characteristic of these four departments. Extensive programs for physical fitness and intramural sports have been seen in the physical education department. Nurse teachers, Miss Squier and Mrs. Whitaker, and health teacher, Mr. Wilson, have promoted good health education. The Driver Ed. Program has been expanded and improved.

All teachers are part-time counselors.

A New World Opens for CV

New students learn that school spirit is the heart of all CV activities.

Learning to use library facilities is important to all students.

High School Years Shape Future

Chenango Valley sees its students grow from frightened seventh graders to mature, self-confident seniors. The tragic death of President Kennedy followed by the Johnson Administration has made us aware of the tremendous responsibilities we will be expected to assume. Events of our high school years have made their marks and will shape our future goals and accomplishments.

Class rings are lasting momentos of the years at CV. Alumni return for a special get-together program.
